Set high in the Monks Hill area overlooking Falmouth Harbour, this 20,048 square foot plot captures some of the most beautiful views on Antigua's southern coast. From its elevated position, the land offers a sweeping vantage point across the turquoise expanse of the Caribbean Sea, where yachts gently drift into the nearby harbors and the horizon stretches endlessly into the blue. The breeze that passes through this area carries with it the scent of the sea and the feeling of calm that only comes from being close to the water.

The Monks Hill community rests above one of Antigua's most active and desirable regions. Falmouth Harbour lies just below, offering easy access to the island's sailing capital.
