

 0.25 ac | 10,890 sq. ft

Set high on a hill along Antigua's scenic southwest coast, this 0.25-acre plot presents an exceptional opportunity for anyone dreaming of building a home with commanding ocean views. The elevation provides a dramatic vantage point that captures the vibrant blues of the Caribbean Sea and stretches across to the distant silhouette of Montserrat. The natural slope enhances the view from nearly every angle, making this parcel perfect for a thoughtfully designed home that blends indoor and outdoor living.

The surrounding landscape remains peaceful, with a few homes already established nearby, offering a sense of community without sacrificing privacy. A road leads directly to the land, and government utilities lie close at hand, making development both practical and convenient.
