One Luxury Home cascading on a hillside with breath taking views of three of Antigua's most beautiful beaches. Entering from the top floor, there is a balcony with the private pool and a little terrace, there are two bedrooms with en-suite individual baths, and an additional powder room, living & dining area and kitchen. All rooms have their own air conditioning and ceiling fans. This house has a living space of about 2,500 square feet; the entire covered area is 5,500 square feet. The cistern has a capacity of 7,000 gallons of water and the building, built by a Venezuelan firm and completed in 2006, was built of blocks reinforced in steel columns to the rafters and the roof.
