All plots, most with waterfront, are being offered for sale at this small exquisite development in a delightful Caribbean location. If you are looking for a house where you can step out onto a crowded beach, fight for a sun lounger and then listen to the chat of holiday makers, then this is not for you.

If you like the idea of a secure location with privacy, tranquility and your own private dock from where you can take your boat to several untouched beaches and explore hundreds of acres of unspoilt coral reef and hardly see a soul, then the Peninsula is for you so read on.
